More than ever, the challenges we face today are worldwide: climate change, resource exhaustion and environmental destruction, economic and financial regulation, nuclear threat and collective security, fairer trade, peace-building...

In this new world, every European country is a small country. But we have one advantage: we have built together a European Union. It is a remarkable construction in which European nation-states, some even long divided by protracted conflicts, decided to be "united in diversity" and form a Commonwealth, a Community in the true sense of the word.

Striving for shared peace and prosperity, we managed to work together and combine forces, thus fostering unprecedented prosperity, democracy and reconciliation on the continent. National states gave away sovereign powers to European institutions in order to reach common goals and an "ever closer" Union.

Unfortunately, whereas the formidable challenges of a manifold crisis demand common responses, drawn at least at European level, too many politicians fall tempted to believing in national salvation only. In a time of interdependence and a globalised world, clinging to national sovereignties and intergovernmentalism is not only warfare against the European spirit; it is but an addiction to political impotence.

Today things are moving in the opposite direction, towards a looser instead of a closer Union, towards a more national instead of post-national Europe. Throwing the Community spirit behind, Member states let short-term national interests cloud the common vision. They favour intergovernmental solutions above European solutions. Almost to the point of breaking up the Euro, the most concrete symbol of European integration.

We oppose this backward and reactionary direction. Europe has been yet again abducted – by a coalition of national politicians. It is time to bring her back. We believe that this is not the moment for Europe to slow down further integration, but on the contrary to accelerate it. The history of the European Union has proven that more Europe, not less, is the answer to the problems we face. Only with European solutions and a renewed European spirit will we be able to tackle the worldwide challenges.

Nationalism is an ideology of the past. Our goal is a federal and post-national Europe, a Europe of the citizens. This was the dream the founding fathers worked so hard to achieve. This was the project of Altiero Spinelli. This is the Europe we will go for. Because this is the Europe of the future.

« It will be the moment of new action and it will be the moment for new men: the moment for a free and united Europe »,

Manifeste

Plus que jamais, les défis du XXI^e siècle sont de nature planétaire : changement climatique, épuisement des ressources, destruction de l'environnement, régulation financière et économique, menace nucléaire et sécurité collective, maintien de la paix,...

Dans ce nouveau monde, chaque pays européen est un petit pays. Mais nous avons un atout : nous avons bâti ensemble une Union européenne. C'est une construction remarquable et inédite, dans laquelle les Etats-nations d'Europe, pour certains longtemps divisés par des conflits incessants, ont décidé d'être « unis dans la diversité » et de former ensemble une Communauté au sens le plus fort du terme.

Tendus vers notre but commun de paix et prospérités partagées, nous avons réussi à coopérer et additionner nos forces, apportant une richesse sans précédent, la démocratie et la réconciliation à l'échelle du continent. Les Etats nations mirent en commun une partie de leur souveraineté nationale au sein d'institutions européennes afin de parvenir ensemble à leurs objectifs communs et une « union toujours plus étroite ».

Malheureusement, alors que les défis gigantesques d'une crise multiple exigeraient des réponses communes, au moins conçues à l'échelle européenne, trop d'hommes et de femmes politiques cèdent à la tentation de croire en un salut seulement national. En ces temps d'interdépendance et de mondialisation, s'accrocher ainsi aux ombres de la souveraineté nationale n'est pas seulement renier l'esprit communautaire ; c'est surtout se condamner à l'impuissance politique.

A présent, les choses semblent régresser, vers une union plus lâche qu'étroite, vers une Europe plus nationale que supranationale. Oubliant tout esprit communautaire, les Etats membres laissent la myopie des intérêts nationaux limités venir brouiller la vision commune. Ils privilégient les solutions intergouvernementales aux solutions européennes. Jusqu'au point de menacer la viabilité de l'euro, le symbole le plus concret de l'intégration européenne.

Nous nous opposons à cette tendance régressive et réactionnaire. Europe a été enlevée à nouveau – et cette fois par une coalition de politiciens nationaux. Il est temps de la ramener. Nous croyons que ce n'est justement pas le moment de ralentir le rythme de l'intégration, mais au contraire de l'accélérer. L'histoire européenne nous l'a déjà montré, ce n'est pas avec moins mais avec plus d'Europe que se trouvent les réponses aux problèmes qui se posent à nous. Seules des solutions européennes et un esprit communautaire ressuscité nous permettront d'affronter les défis planétaires.

Le nationalisme est une idéologie du passé. Notre objectif est celui d'une Europe fédérale et post-nationale, une Europe des citoyens. C'était le rêve que les pères fondateurs s'attachèrent à réaliser. C'était le projet d'Altiero Spinelli. C'est l'Europe que nous choisissons. Parce que c'est l'Europe de demain.

"It will be the moment of new action and it will be the moment for new men: the moment for a free and united Europe"

Altiero Spinelli

"Si je savois quelque chose utile à ma patrie, et qui fût préjudiciable à l'Europe, (...) je la regarderois comme un crime."

Montesquieu

Actions

1. The aim

As indicated in the manifesto, at a time of interdependence and a globalised world, clinging to national sovereignties and intergovernmentalism is not only warfare against the European spirit, it is but an addiction to political impotence. Today we are moving in the opposite direction, towards a looser instead of a closer Union, towards a more national instead of a post-national Europe.

The aim of the Spinelli Group is to oppose this backward and reactionary direction. We believe that this is not the moment for Europe to slow down, but on the contrary to accelerate. Our goal is a federal and post-national Europe, a Europe of the citizens.

We want to make a network of those who choose the European interest above their national interest, those who want to push the federal project in their respective environment. Just like Altiero Spinelli did, we want to operate from the European Parliament, but not only from the European Parliament. The aim of the Spinelli Group is to become a network of citizens, politicians, academics and writers who are convinced it is time for Europe to move forward.

2. How are we going to work?

First of all there is the Steering Group, which is the founding group of the Spinelli Group. It consists of 33 convinced and proven pro-Europeans (cf list of the members) of different backgrounds, age and profession. Two of the founding members are sons in law of Altiero Spinelli: Amartya Sen and Tommaso Padoa Schioppa.

Secondly there will be the MEP Spinelli Group. Every MEP who is prepared to withstand the pressure of their national government and support the European interest is welcome to join this group. The MEP Spinelli Group will look for strategies and majorities in the European Parliament to push the pro-European, federal and post-national agenda.

Thirdly there is the Spinelli Network Group. Every citizen who agrees with the manifesto of the Spinelli Group is invited to sign it. Signing is possible on www.spinelligroup.eu. Whoever signs the manifesto becomes a member of the Spinelli Network Group. He or she will be kept informed of future initiatives and will be invited to the annual meeting on May 9th. In the near future members will also be able to participate in debates and fora.

3. Actions

The Spinelli Group will come forward with suggestions it considers as necessary Big Steps Forward. There are a lot of themes and subjects on which the European Union should move forward but someone must put them on the agenda. Federal and post-national steps forward will be proposed about for example European defence, culture and education, European citizenship or energy.

One tool the MEP Spinelli Group will use is the Written Declaration in the European Parliament. The goal is to find a federal majority on important subjects. The Written Declaration will also be used to make clear what our red lines are on important negotiations. An obvious example in the near future is going to be the negotiations on the Budget 2011, the revision of the current financial perspectives 2007-2013 and the next multi annual financial framework 2013-2020, where the Spinelli Group is not going to accept a shrinking budget.

Once or twice a year all the members of the Spinelli Network Group will be invited to a Spinelli Meeting.

The Spinelli Group will also organise The Shadow Council. Today the European Council is opting for the intergovernmental method. This is of course a consequence of the situation that every Head of State or Prime Minister is defending their own national interest. The Shadow Council will do the opposite and look for solutions based on the interest of the entire European Union and its citizens. It will be a federalist and post-national Council working on European answers to European problems.

4. Agenda
