Vision

PDF Send Print

The Amadeus Institute is an independent Moroccan think tank, founded in 2008 and based in Rabat. It came to life in order to contribute to the Moroccan and Maghreban public debate. It also acts as the Voice of the South to communicate its vision and concerns at the global level.

The Amadeus institute has a double role: analysis and creating debates. It operates as a laboratory of ideas and a unique creator of debates. It is at the same time a centre of reflection, dialogue proposition and consultancy, but also a platform of exchanges, meetings and North-South and South-South cooperation.

There is a synergy between the Institute's various activities, mainly between its Center of Analyses and Publications and its events/conferences.

The Institute's strategic orientations centers around 6 thematic and geographical axes:

Thematic focus

- Middle Class and Social Mobility
- Economic growth and regional integration
- Co-development : North-South cooperation
- Sustainable development and energy efficiency
- Conflict prevention and security
- Good Governance and Citizenship

Geographical focus

- Morocco
- Maghreb
- Mediterranean
- Africa
- Arab world
- The South : 3As
