CRIME AND TRAFFICKING OF PEOPLE KEY THEMES FOR NETWORK DISCUSSIONS

Organised crime and trafficking in human beings are key themes of a two-day discussion between European politicians and ten political parties from South East Europe.

The discussion will be held by the Network for South East Europe in Belgrade on 11 and 12 October.

The Network, set up by the Party of European Socialists, brings together all the social democratic parties of the region for two days of discussion about regional integration, cooperation and conciliation.

PES Vice-President Jan Marinus Wiersma, who is responsible for the Network, will be a leading participant in the talks.

Other agenda items include the role of the media in South East Europe and the role of political parties in the process of regional integration.
