The Greek composer Mikis Theodorakis was treated for acute breathing problems after a three-hour concert in Berlin and has canceled all the remaining tour performances. Theodorakis, 71, who composed the music for the film "Zorba the Greek," was playing in Berlin at the start of a European tour with the Turkish singer Zulfu Livaneli. The tour had been scheduled to end June 13 with a concert on the demarcation line dividing the island of Cyprus between Turkish and Greek sectors.
